Part I

Introduction

Tulane University Libraries was formed in 1941 by the merger of the Charles T. Howard Memorial Library, founded as a public research library in 1889 by Annie Turner Howard and acquired by Tulane University in the 1930s; the Frederick W. Tilton Memorial Library, endowed in 1900 and 1906 by Caroline Stannard Tilton; and the Newcomb College Library. In 1962, the Library of the Middle American Research Institute was incorporated into Tulane University Libraries. The origin of the Rudolph Matas Library of the Health Sciences dates from the founding of the Medical College of Louisiana (now Tulane University School of Medicine) in 1834. The Library was named for Dr. Rudolph Matas in 1937. Matas librarians joined the Library Department in January 2008. Hereafter, in this document, Tulane University Libraries refers to all libraries within the Tulane University Libraries System, including the Matas Library of the Health Sciences.

Library Department Handbook

The Library Department Handbook provides information about the internal governance of the Department, as well as information about the policies and procedures to be followed by members of the Department. Policies and procedures found in part III, "Guidelines for Members of the Library Department," supplement the policies and procedures found in the Faculty Handbook and University-wide policies. In areas where policies and procedures in the Faculty Handbook are different than those of the Library Department Handbook, librarians will always follow the policies and procedures found in the Library Department Handbook.

The Library Department Constitution may be amended by a two-thirds vote of the Department members, as stated in Section VI of the Constitution. Proposed amendments must be presented to the department at a regular meeting of the Department and voted on at the subsequent regular meeting. As stated in Article 4 of the Library Department Bylaws, the Bylaws may be amended by a majority of Department members present at any meeting, provided that any proposal to amend is submitted to the Department at least two weeks in advance of the meeting at which the proposal is to be considered.

Parts I and III of the Handbook may be revised by the Rights and Responsibilities Committee as needed in order to ensure that the Handbook is kept as up to date as possible. Changes to part I or part III should be brought to the attention of the Library Department through that committee's reports to the Department, for further discussion when considered appropriate.

The procedural appendices are submitted and maintained by the relevant committees. Changes to an appendix should be brought to the attention of the Library Department through the responsible committee's reports to the department, for further discussion when considered appropriate.

The Rights and Responsibilities Committee maintains an online version of the handbook with all sections kept up to date. Currently this online version and other departmental documents are available at: <http://library.tulane.edu/about/>

Librarians' Status and Ranks

Librarians at Tulane University have academic status. Academic status parallels that of the faculty, except that librarians use the titles of Librarian I, Librarian II, Librarian III, Librarian IV, Assistant Dean, and Associate Dean, , and do not have traditional tenure arrangements. Further, the professional demands on librarians require a standard work week and operation on the University calendar rather than the class calendar. This Library Department Handbook augments the Faculty Handbook and explains policies relating to those instances in which the roles, status, and benefits of librarians differ from those of the faculty.

Part III

Guidelines for Members of the Library Department

Appointment

The Dean of Libraries and Academic Information Resources (henceforth referred to as the Dean of Libraries) makes appointments upon the recommendation of a Search Committee of the Library Department. Appointments are for 12 months on a fiscal year basis. The Dean of Libraries confirms in writing the conditions of appointment, including salary and academic rank.

Librarians do not have tenure but do have continuing appointments with the exception of those persons appointed at the Librarian I or II level as described in the following section on Ranks. All new appointments are probationary for a period of one year, after which they are automatically renewed unless one of the steps under Promotion or Discharge is taken. Librarians are entitled to Academic Freedom as set forth in Article X of the Faculty Handbook.

Salaries

Salaries, including administrative stipends, are determined by the Dean of Libraries, based on appropriate recommendation, and subject to the approval of the University administration. Promotion to a higher rank generally includes appropriate compensation.

Ranks

Librarian I. A Librarian I will have earned a Master's degree from an American Library Association-accredited library school or its equivalent.

- A Librarian I becomes eligible for promotion after 12 months of service and is invited to apply for promotion by the Promotions Committee.
- If after one year of service a Librarian I is not promoted but has demonstrated potential for future promotion, the probationary period may be extended for up to 12 months.
- If a Librarian I does not receive promotion or an extension of the probationary period, notification of termination is given with at least three months' notice.

Librarian II. Eligibility for appointment to the rank of Librarian II comes after 12 months in the rank of Librarian I or equivalent experience. Archivists will typically have achieved archival certification.

Librarian III. Eligibility for appointment to the rank of Librarian III comes after three years in the rank of Librarian II or equivalent experience. A Librarian II not promoted to Librarian III after five years in rank will receive a 12-month non-renewable appointment; exceptions may be made for part-time librarians.

Librarian IV. Eligibility for appointment to the rank of Librarian IV comes after five years in the rank of Librarian III or equivalent experience.

Assistant/Associate Dean. Assistant and associate deans do not hold a rank of Librarian I, II, III, or IV or participate in the Library Department promotions process. An assistant or associate dean who has held a rank as a librarian at Tulane University Libraries sets aside the rank while serving in that administrative position.

Promotion Criteria

In the guidelines are references to professional contributions and leadership. For an explanation of these, including more options than those mentioned, see the Professional Contributions and Service section.

General Criteria

Excellent job performance is the most crucial factor in promotion decisions. Consequently, a librarian's effectiveness in serving the Library's mission and goals receives greater weight than any other criterion. Routine performance of duties does not in itself warrant promotion, no matter how specialized or important the duties may be.

Demonstrated attributes of the successful librarian include:

- Professionalism: Maintains a clear understanding of and commitment to:
 - The enduring values, ethics, and principles of librarianship, as stated in the American Library Association statement on core values, the Association of Southeastern Research Libraries statement on Competencies for Research Librarians, and the Society of American Archivists Code of Ethics.
 - The mission, goals, policies, and guidelines of this library and university.
- Dedication: Exhibits consistent commitment to excellent service, working energetically and dependably.
- Knowledge: Develops a solid grasp of one's work, learning new skills to meet its changing requirements.

- Initiative: Proposes productive innovations and creative solutions to problems.
- Adaptability: Embraces constructive change, evolves in outlook, and copes even under adverse circumstances.
- Judgment: Applies analytical skills and knowledge for effective evaluation, discussion, decision-making, and action.
- Clarity: Communicates effectively both verbally and in writing.
- Collegiality: Cooperates and collaborates to enhance service; shows respect for all library staff as well as for the diverse members of the university and wider community.
- Productivity: Efficiently completes substantial high-quality library work.

Criteria for Promotion to Specific Ranks

The promotion criteria listed below are cumulative; a candidate for promotion to a higher rank must continue to meet the criteria for all previous ranks.

Librarian II

- Documented proficiency in one's defined job responsibilities
- Demonstrated potential for continued progress and professional contributions

Librarian III

The rank of Librarian III reflects a record of substantial and successful professional performance. It is the principal professional rank at Tulane University Libraries, the rank that most librarians will achieve. In addition to the criteria mentioned above, the record of a person appointed to the rank of Librarian III will document:

- Mastery of one's defined job responsibilities
- Consistent record of continuing education to enhance and update one's knowledge and skills
- Participation in professional activities and organizations
- Participation in library committees and collaborative projects

- Support for the professional and personal growth of others through promoting a collegial and collaborative work environment

Librarian IV

The rank of Librarian IV recognizes a record of sustained distinguished contributions to the University Libraries, Tulane, and the profession and also recognizes the prospect of continued excellence in performance. Librarians IV are acknowledged leaders in their chosen field. The record of a person appointed to the rank of Librarian IV will typically reflect leadership in:

- Initiative, creativity, and foresight in devising original solutions and programs that successfully address broad issues among library departments or between the library and its constituencies
- Comprehensive understanding of and concern for the library as a whole and the interrelationships among its units and constituencies
- Support for the professional and personal growth of others by being an effective source of advice and counsel, encouraging continuous learning, and other mentoring activities
- Advocacy on behalf of the Tulane University Libraries, the university, and the profession
- Library, university, and community committees and collaborative projects
- Professional activities and organizations
- Service as a resource person, teacher, or trainer beyond one's defined job responsibilities
- Contributions to the profession through research and dissemination

Professional Contributions and Service

Librarians must demonstrate sustained, continuing growth through professional contributions and service. Activities directly related to one's position will receive primary consideration in promotion decisions.

Professional contributions involve a wide range of activities from which librarians may choose. The Librarian I demonstrates potential for successful participation, the Librarian II actively participates, the Librarian III exhibits a solid background, and the Librarian IV demonstrates sustained leadership. The following items are suggestive, not exhaustive, and appear in alphabetical order, not in order of importance.

Fund Raising. Identifying and cultivating potential sources of library support.

Governance. Librarians contribute to the library's and university's governance by running for Library Department positions, serving on library or university committees and task forces, contributing to policies and guidelines, and acting as sources of informed, direct, and honest counsel.

Leadership. Leaders may be supervisors or non-supervisors. They may influence, serve as experts, or lead the planning or implementation of activities that improve the library, the university, or the profession.

Professional Participation. Professional participation is contributing to the advancement of the library profession through work with library, other professional, or scholarly organizations. Such organizations exist at the local, state, regional, national, and international levels. Examples of participation include:

- Serving on committees or task forces
- Serving as an officer or running for office
- Planning, hosting, or contributing to a program or meeting
- Writing reports
- Arranging an organization's continuing education programs
- Acting as an organization's liaison with another group
- Lobbying a governmental agency on behalf of an organization
- Serving as a member of an organization's review or accreditation team • Evaluating articles for potential publication or reviewing grant applications.

Professional Consulting. Professional consulting means serving outside the library as a paid or volunteer advisor to benefit the university, community, or library profession. In addition to library and archival science, consulting areas include related proficiencies such as statistics, management, web design, database creation, or education.

Research and Dissemination. Research is systematic inquiry or critical examination to establish facts or principles in a field of knowledge. Dissemination is presenting original work to the public through publication, reading a paper, or other means. Works in progress may be considered. Examples of appropriate activities and achievements include:

- Presenting papers, talks, or poster sessions at conferences
- Participating in panels or roundtables
- Creating bibliographies, databases, indices, or other scholarly compilations of information
- Writing books, chapters, articles, or reviews
- Editing or producing journals, newsletters, or other publications
- Drafting grant proposals
- Composing or performing, such as recitals or theater
- Organizing exhibits

- Creating, designing, or managing web resources
- Writing software programs.

Service to the Community. A university's core mission includes an obligation to society. Tulane's special commitment to improving our community heightens and reinforces that obligation from the local to the international level. Contributions involving professional expertise or Tulane-sponsored community service will be recognized.

Teaching. Teaching includes participating in the design, development, and presentation of courses, lectures, workshops, seminars, institutes, or other instructional or training activities. In addition to librarianship, subjects may include other proficiencies or academic disciplines. Teaching may take place in or outside a classroom setting, may be volunteer or paid, and may be sponsored by library, university, professional, civic, or scholarly organizations.

Evaluation File Updates

The Performance Evaluation is a two-step process:

1. The annual file update
2. The periodic performance evaluation

Annual File Update:

A file update shall be sent to each librarian annually from the Library Administrative Office. It shall be completed by the librarian and then submitted to the librarian's supervisor.

One of the following two procedures will then be followed:

1. The supervisor shall forward the file update to the Dean of Libraries
2. The supervisor shall attach to the file update the performance evaluation which shall be submitted as follows:

Performance Evaluation:

Each librarian will be evaluated according to the following schedule, normally in January:

1. Years 1-3: Annually
2. Years 4-9: Biennially
3. Year 10 and after: triennially

If a formal evaluation is not required in a year when a librarian is eligible for promotion, a letter shall be sent from the supervisor to the Promotions Committee.

A librarian who is to be demoted or transferred shall be evaluated by his or her supervisor prior to moving to his or her new position/rank. An evaluation can be requested at any time by a supervisor or by a librarian.

For each librarian in a new position (e.g. initial appointment, transfer, or demotion), the performance evaluation for the first year will be based on the initial date of appointment, transfer, etc. The evaluation process for probationary employees will commence at the beginning of the sixth and twelfth months from the initial date of employment.

A librarian who receives the one-year evaluation six months or less before the annual evaluation in January need not repeat the process until the following annual evaluation period.

Evaluation Criteria

Standards should be determined prior to evaluation and should be applicable to all librarians at the same level and with the same amount of job experience in the particular work.

When some of the work is less than satisfactory, comments should be very clear about what is wrong and what needs to be done to meet standards.

Criteria Guidelines:

1. Basic job knowledge and development of new skills
2. Quality of work
3. Productivity
4. Effective decision-making
5. Communication skills
6. Creativity and initiative
7. Adaptability
8. Working relationships with patrons, co-workers, and organizations
9. Contributions to library, university, or professional committees and organizations
10. If the librarian is a supervisor or acts in some supervisory capacity:
 - a. Planning, organization, coordination, and direction of assigned work unit
 - b. Training, development, and motivation of staff
 - c. Fairness and impartiality in the treatment of staff
 - d. Approachability and receptivity to subordinates' suggestions, problems, and complaints

Professional Participation and Travel

This section outlines policies regarding funding and paid professional release time for participation in professional activities by Library Department members. It supplements Tulane University's Travel Policy, which must also be followed. Specific provisions regarding the types of expenses that are eligible for reimbursement, per diem, foreign travel, and other related matters are available at <http://tulane.edu/asvpr/ora/travel.cfm>.

Specific instructions for completing and submitting the Professional Participation Authorization Form and for applying for reimbursement for expenses, in addition to copies of relevant forms, are available on the Administrative Services website under "Personnel" (<https://htadmin.tulane.edu/hc/en-us/categories/200156267-Personnel>; login required).

Categories of Professional Activities

1. Professional development: Professional development funding supports librarians in fostering their professional growth and maintaining appropriate levels of professional engagement. Examples of activities in this category include conferences of professional library organizations (e.g., ALA and ACRL) and other library-related meetings (e.g., the LOEX Conference and the Charleston Conference), both in-person and virtual, and professional webinars.

Each librarian chooses which professional development activities to undertake. Funding and paid release time for them requires approval by the librarian's supervisor and the appropriate senior administrator.

Expenses for approved professional development are reimbursable up to a maximum total amount per fiscal year for each librarian, as determined and announced by the Dean of Libraries for each year. The allocation may be spread across multiple activities within the fiscal year.

Supplemental funding will be authorized under certain circumstances:

- 1) Rank: To encourage growth and active professional engagement, each librarian at the rank of Librarian I or Librarian II is eligible for an annual funding supplement. This supplemental amount is determined and announced by the Dean of Libraries for each fiscal year.
- 2) Office or function: A librarian at any rank is eligible for an annual supplement if that librarian:
 - a. Holds an elected office in a recognized professional organizationor

- b. Chairs a unit (committee, discussion group, formal task group, etc.) of a recognized professional organization
- or
- c. Gives a scheduled presentation at a meeting.

Documentation may be required for payment of this supplement. The supplemental amount is determined and announced by the Dean of Libraries for each fiscal year.

2. Position-related training and education: Training and continuing education activities that are directly related to the performance of the librarian's job and to strategic goals of the Library. Examples of this category include in-person and virtual instruction provided in workshops, institutes, seminars, and courses.

To qualify as position-related training and continuing education, activities must be approved by the librarian's supervisor and the appropriate senior administrator.

Expenses for approved activities in this category are reimbursed in full; the total amount does not count towards the librarian's annual funding limit for professional development. Paid release time is given.

3. Administrative representation: Participation undertaken to represent the Library in an official capacity. Examples include a professional meeting at which the librarian serves as a designated delegate of Tulane University Libraries and a scheduled appearance in court to testify on behalf of the Libraries.

Administrative representation is undertaken at the request of the Dean of Libraries (or at the request of another senior administrator with the approval of the Dean of Libraries) and is thus considered mandatory.

Expenses for assigned administrative activities are covered in full; the total amount does not count towards the librarian's annual funding limit for professional development. Paid release time is given.

4. Discretionary activities: Activities undertaken in pursuit of a professional or personal interest peripheral to the librarian's position description.

No funding is available for discretionary activities. Paid release time may be approved by the librarian's supervisor if the activity has potential for benefiting Library operations. If no release time is approved, librarians must use vacation time for such activity.

Leave

1. Vacation leave. Librarians earn 22 vacation days per year. They may continue to accumulate vacation leave beyond the maximum accrual of 22 days (165 hours), but only until the next anniversary date, which is defined for librarians as December 31 of each year. Each December 31, a librarian forfeits any vacation time that exceeds the maximum 22 days allowed.

Librarians report vacation leave in full-day increments only.

Upon termination of employment in the Library, librarians will be compensated for unused vacation time up to 22 days.

Exceptions:

- Part-time librarians: Vacation leave is prorated for part-time librarians.
 - Temporary grace period: For librarians already employed as of June 30, 2016, there will be a grace period through December 31, 2018. During that grace period, they will be able to continue to accumulate up to 44 days (330 hours) of vacation, as measured at the end of each December, until the end of 2018. At the end of December 2018, all librarians will forfeit any vacation leave over 22 days (165 hours).
2. Holiday leave. Librarians receive all designated University holidays. These paid holidays are not deducted from accrued vacation leave.
 3. Sick Leave. Librarians earn 12 days of sick leave per year, which may be accrued up to a maximum of 120 days (900 hours).

Librarians report sick leave in full-day increments only.

Upon termination of employment in the Library, there is no compensation for accrued sick leave.

Exceptions:

- Part-time librarians: Sick leave is prorated for part-time librarians.
 - Sick leave accrued under previous policy: Librarians already employed as of June 30, 2016, who have accumulated more than 120 sick days will not lose the extra days. However, a librarian covered by this exception will not accrue any more days until that person uses enough days to have fewer than 120 sick days (900 hours).
4. Family and Medical Leave: Parental Leave and Extended Sick Leave. Librarians who have worked for the University for at least twelve (12) months and have worked at least 975 hours during the twelve months prior to requesting leave are eligible for family and medical leave under the Family and Medical Leave Act (FMLA) for the following purposes:

- To care for the librarian's newborn child or newly adopted or newly placed foster care child, as long as the leave is taken in the year following the child's birth or placement (for newborn and newly adopted children, see also Parental Leave below)
- or
- To care for a child, legal spouse, or parent with a serious health condition or
 - To care for the librarian's own serious health condition that leaves them unable to perform their job.

Please see Tulane's Office of Human Resources for eligibility information, specific requirements, and forms:

<http://tulane.edu/hr>

5. Pregnancy Leave. Pregnancy leave applies to any pregnant librarian, with a standard period of six weeks and the possibility of extension for a reasonable period of time up to four months. A reasonable period is defined in the University policy as "that period during which the female employee is medically disabled on account of pregnancy, childbirth, or related medical conditions."

During pregnancy leave, a librarian first uses accrued sick and/or vacation leave, then is eligible for leave without pay. Tulane's group health insurance coverage and the employee share of premiums continue to apply during unpaid leave.

For further details about eligibility for pregnancy leave, its relationship to FMLA leave and parental leave, and procedures for applying, please contact Tulane's Office of Human Resources: <http://tulane.edu/hr>

6. Parental Leave. A librarian may be eligible for parental leave to care for a newborn child or a newly adopted child, provided that, based on the University definition of parental status in this context, the librarian is the biological mother or father of the child, or is a same-sex spouse of the biological mother or father of the child, or has legally adopted a child of age 17 or under. (Foster parents and legal guardians are not eligible.) The duration of such leave is up to four consecutive weeks immediately following the birth or adoption.

A librarian who has been employed for at least 12 consecutive months is eligible for parental leave with pay. A librarian employed for less than 12 consecutive months may first use any accrued sick or vacation hours, then is eligible for unpaid parental leave. Tulane's group health insurance coverage and the employee share of premiums continue to apply during parental leave.

For further details about eligibility for parental leave, its relationship to FMLA leave and pregnancy leave, and procedures for applying, please contact Tulane's Office of Human Resources: <http://tulane.edu/hr>

7. Professional Leave. Leave with pay is granted whenever possible in order to encourage professional participation and travel. For further information on policies relating to professional participation and travel, including the types of participation covered, see the Library Department Handbook section "Professional Participation and Travel," above.
8. Sabbatical Leave. Due to their academic status, librarians are eligible for sabbatical leave for the primary purpose of enhancing the value of the recipient's future service to the University and to the profession through study, research, or publication. Librarians who have completed six years of full-time service in residence at Tulane are eligible for a sabbatical of six months with full salary or for one year at half salary. Sabbaticals must be approved by the Dean of Libraries and the appropriate University administrator.
9. Leave without Pay. If the librarian has been employed for more than one calendar year, a leave of absence may be granted for a number of reasons, including the acceptance of a fellowship or other temporary appointment. Each case is considered individually. Any librarian granted leave of absence is expected to return to the University for at least one year of service.
10. Release Time. Release time for consulting, teaching, or lecturing may be granted by the Dean of Libraries. Requests should be made in writing and submitted in adequate advance of any commitment. Librarians may have up to three hours per week for taking classes for credit. Release time for such study is subject to the approval of the department head and also depends upon the provision that the classes are not available outside working hours. Every effort will be made by department heads to arrange scheduling to accommodate librarians who wish educational release time.
11. Bereavement Leave. If there is a death in a librarian's immediate family or if a relative living under the same roof as the librarian should die, a leave with pay will be granted. In accordance with Tulane University policy, leave shall not exceed three working days for a funeral held within a 100-mile radius of the city and shall not exceed five working days for a funeral held more than 100 miles from New Orleans.
12. Jury and Court Leave. A librarian will be allowed time off with pay when summoned for jury duty or when subpoenaed to appear as a court witness. Time off with pay will not be granted for court attendance when the librarian is the defendant or is engaged in a personal litigation, unless such actions are the result of any act performed as part of his or her duties as an employee of the University.
13. Pre-retirement Leave. Librarians who are at least 62 years of age and who have completed at least 15 years of continuous service with Tulane are eligible for an unpaid pre-retirement leave of up to 18 months. This leave allows eligible University employees to continue to participate in the University's group health insurance coverage at their own expense, paying the full cost of premiums, including coverage for those who qualify as dependents. After the pre-retirement leave period, employees will officially be terminated and will then become eligible to continue University-plan health insurance coverage based on the Consolidated Omnibus Budget Reconciliation Act of 1985 (COBRA), which has a standard period of eligibility of 18 months. The combination of pre-retirement leave and COBRA coverage can thus provide continuous health insurance coverage through Tulane for up to 3 years, until eligibility for Medicare applies at age 65.

Additional information is available from Tulane's Office of Human Resources.

Discharge

The Library may terminate any librarian from its employ (1) due to University-declared financial exigency as set forth in the current Faculty Handbook or (2) under conditions listed below:

1. Termination of Probationary Appointment. Librarians on probationary appointment are subject to termination of their appointment for substandard performance. Termination is to be based on a supervisor's recommendation, evaluation(s) and other relevant documents, and demonstration that appropriate efforts have been made to inform the librarian of the substandard aspects of his or her work. The Dean shall take such recommendations and evidence into consideration when making a final determination. Written notification of termination of probationary appointment shall serve as three months' notice.
2. Termination of Appointment. Librarians beyond the probationary period are subject to termination of appointment for substandard performance. Termination is to be based on a supervisor's recommendation, an evaluation made no more than three months prior to notification of termination, previous evaluations, other relevant documents, and demonstration that appropriate efforts have been made to inform the librarian of the substandard aspects of his or her work. The Dean shall take such recommendations and evidence into consideration when making a final determination. Written notification shall serve as one year's notice.
3. Dismissal. All librarians are subject to dismissal for adequate cause, which is here considered to be grave misconduct or willful neglect of duty. Written notification shall serve as immediate dismissal.

University-Wide Grievance Procedures for Librarians

The University recognizes the right of its librarians* to express their grievances and to seek a solution concerning disagreements resulting from working conditions or practices, disagreements over disciplinary action or administrative decision, or discrimination in employment practices and educational programs/activities on the basis of race, color, sex, religion, national origin, age, disability, genetic information, sexual orientation, gender identity, gender expression, pregnancy, marital status, military status, veteran status, or any other status or classification protected by federal, state or local law. Any librarian has the right to express a grievance without fear of loss of position or status.

Any librarian who is alleging discrimination should immediately contact the Office of Institutional Equity and keep it informed at each level of the grievance procedure. The Office of Institutional Equity will participate as mediator and advisor in all cases involving complaints about possible violations of University policies on non-discrimination, affirmative action, and equal employment and educational opportunity. As part of the monitoring responsibility of the office, the Office of Institutional Equity will keep detailed written records of all transactions during a grievance case.

This statement shall be regarded as the general outline of procedures to be followed in any grievance case. Step-by-step procedures, as they pertain to the hearing process, may be determined by each independent unit.

Time limits specified for procedures described herein shall hold except in exceptional or extenuating circumstances, in which case the dean of the school or the library director (as determined for each unit), with the mutual agreement of all involved parties, shall approve an extension not to exceed ten (10) working days. In any case where the time limit is so extended and a decision is not made within the time limit, the complainant has the option to appeal to the next step.

Informal Procedures

Any librarian who has a grievance should first discuss in confidence his or her complaint with that individual most directly concerned or, alternatively, with the Office of Institutional Equity. If the grievance is not resolved within five (5) working days or the complainant is still dissatisfied, there shall be an informal meeting(s) between the persons involved and the next higher administrative official(s) in the administrative hierarchy of authority. If there is no resolution of the grievance within ten (10) working days of the original complaint, the librarian should discuss the grievance with the dean/library director.

Formal Procedures

* Librarians have a special status in the University. The title Librarian is defined by the Faculty Handbook, and librarians have many faculty benefits, including sabbatical leave and participation in faculty retirement savings plan options, but excluding tenure-track status. Consequently, those individuals who are appointed with the title “Librarian” shall use the grievance procedures described herein.

If no satisfactory resolution is achieved by any of the parties within five (5) working days of the meeting with the dean/library director, the complainant and/or the dean/library director should submit a written statement of the grievance to the grievance committee, or equivalent elected committee, of the school/library. The complaint shall be accompanied by the statement that the complainant agrees to the presentation of evidence against his or her position. The committee shall seek to settle the matter by making a recommendation to the dean/library director within a period of ten (10) working days after receipt of the complaint.

The grievance committee shall adopt procedures to ensure that all relevant facts have been presented, to ensure that the librarian receives a fair hearing and is afforded ample opportunity to present her or his case, and to ensure that the librarian is aware of the facts and evidence that have been presented against that case. At the hearing, the concerned parties will be given an opportunity to be present and to state their positions to the committee. Relevant information from each party involved in a grievance must be submitted in writing to the committee prior to the hearing in order that committee members may become familiar with the various points to be considered. The Office of Institutional Equity, where appropriate, will attend the hearing in order to advise on procedures and regulations. The committee and/or involved parties may also choose to call upon other University employees to give information. A brief summary of each hearing, which will be confidential, will be kept by the committee and submitted to the dean/library director and, where appropriate, the Office of Institutional Equity. The decision of the committee shall be determined by a majority.

The dean/library director shall notify all parties of the recommendation of the grievance committee. Either party may appeal the recommendation of the committee directly to the President within five (5) working days. If the President decides to review the case, the dean/library director will be so notified, normally within five (5) working days of receipt of the appeal or receipt of information about the recommendation. If the President does not choose to review the case within this time period, the decision of the committee will be final. If the President does review the case, the President’s decision will be final.

All librarians are encouraged to use the grievance procedures when they believe they have not been treated fairly. It is the responsibility of the dean/library director to ensure that librarians presenting grievances do so without fear of retribution or prejudice.

Tulane University Libraries Grievance Procedures

Tulane University recognizes that it is inevitable that some disagreements will arise between employees and their colleagues or supervisors. The Grievance Procedures provide an effective and equitable process for resolving disagreements, which is vital for effective working relations, morale, and individual motivation. It establishes a system of equitability and due process so that employees receive a fair hearing of any problem or complaint and supervisors resolve employee complaints or problems quickly, properly, and fairly. It determines whether a violation of rules or policies has occurred and, if so, determines the means for correcting the violation.

General Provision

No librarian shall be dismissed, suspended, reduced in rank, or otherwise disciplined except for adequate cause. Adequate cause is considered to be grave misconduct or willful neglect of duty. Disciplinary action shall not be used in order to restrain librarians in their exercise of academic freedom or their rights as American citizens. Librarians may be terminated in the case of University-declared financial exigency as set forth in the current Faculty Handbook.

Grievance Process

The University recognizes the right of its librarians to express their grievances and to seek a solution concerning disagreements resulting from working conditions or practices, appointment, reappointment and promotion, benefits, disagreements over disciplinary action or administrative decision, or discrimination in employment practices and educational programs/activities on the basis of race, color, sex, religion, national origin, age, disability, genetic information, sexual orientation, gender identity, gender expression, pregnancy, marital status, military status, veteran status, or any other status or classification protected by federal, state or local law. Any librarian has the right to express a grievance without fear of loss of position or status. A grievance is any claim made by a person or group of persons of an injustice that directly and adversely affects the grievant(s) in a professional or academic capacity.

If a person employed by Tulane University Libraries is involved in any capacity in a grievance procedure, said person shall be allowed time to perform this function without loss of pay.

The process may take several forms. These will be described under the Informal Procedure and the Formal Procedure. Maximum time limits are established for the completion of each step in the grievance procedure. However, it is in the best interest of the University and its employees that all grievances be considered with as much dispatch as is feasible. Therefore, every effort shall be made by employees in filing grievances and supervisors in replying to grievances to take action within the shortest time possible. The time limits may be extended in any specific instance by the Dean of Libraries/Acting Dean with the mutual written agreement of all involved parties. This extension shall not exceed ten (10) working days. In any case where the time limit is so extended and a decision is not made within the time limit, the grievant has the option to appeal to the next step. Without such an extension, failure to comply with the specified time limit for the completion of any step in this procedure shall permit the grievant to proceed to the next step. Failure at any step of this procedure to appeal a grievance to the next step within the specified time limit shall be deemed to be acceptance of the decision rendered at that step.

Informal Procedure

The Informal Procedure is intended to be a vehicle for the orderly consideration of employment problems concerning recent or continuing conditions of employment. Informal discussion between persons directly involved in a grievance shall precede the submission of a formal request for a hearing and should be encouraged at all stages.

The Informal Procedure includes the following:

1. In the event that any grievance arises between a librarian and a colleague, the University or any administrative official of the University, the persons involved should meet and attempt in good faith to resolve the dispute informally within five (5) working days from the date of the dispute. Where appropriate, the Office of Institutional Equity shall be included in such discussions. A working day is any weekday, Monday through Friday, when the Library is open. Counting of working days shall begin with the first working day after an action, such as the date of a dispute, a meeting, or the filing of a written statement of a grievance.
2. If the procedure outlined above is unsuccessful, there shall be an informal meeting(s) between the persons involved and the next higher administrative official(s) in the administrative hierarchy of authority within the next five (5) working days. If there is no resolution of the grievance within ten (10) working days of the original complaint, the person or persons involved should discuss the grievance with the Dean of Libraries/Acting Dean.
3. Written documentation of these meetings should be prepared by said next higher administrative official and/or the Dean of Libraries/Acting Dean and should be signed by all parties. Signatures indicate only that the documentation has been seen Efforts should be made by all parties to resolve the grievance through informal means. Should the Informal Procedure fail to resolve the grievance, and if no satisfactory resolution is achieved by any of the parties within five (5) working days of the meeting with the Dean of Libraries/Acting Dean, the grievant may request of the Dean of Libraries/Acting Dean that the Formal Procedure be instituted.

Formal Procedure

The Dean of Libraries/Acting Dean shall immediately inform the Executive Committee Chair that the formal grievance procedure has been instituted. The Executive Committee shall have five (5) working days to meet and form the Grievance Committee. The Chair shall inform the complainant that the Grievance Committee has been created. A written grievance statement must be submitted by the grievant to the Dean of Libraries/Acting Dean by the end of the fifth working day.

The Written Grievance Statement should address the following issues:

1. A brief summary of the pertinent facts concerning the grievance.
2. A statement of why the determination(s) of the administrative officer(s) who previously heard the matter was not satisfactory to the grievant. This statement should address the following questions:
 - a. Were the proper facts and criteria brought to bear on the decision? If not, what facts and criteria were not considered?
 - b. Were improper or extraneous criteria brought to bear on the decision? If so, what improper or extraneous criteria were considered?
 - c. Were there any procedural irregularities that substantially affected the outcome of the matter? If so, what were the irregularities, and how did they affect the outcome?
 - d. Given proper facts, criteria, and procedures, why does the grievant disagree with the decision?
3. A statement of desired redress, for example, an apology, the correction of a record, the restitution of a minor financial loss or a change in working conditions or assignment.

The elected members of the Executive Committee shall act as the Grievance Committee. If any member of the committee is directly involved in the grievance case brought to the committee, that member shall not participate for the duration of the committee's proceedings on that case. If, for that reason or any other, a committee member must be replaced, a replacement shall be selected by the Grievance Committee and the Rights and Responsibilities Committee in joint conference. Parties of interest may not participate in the selection conference.

All members of the Grievance Committee must be present for a meeting to be held. The chair shall schedule and conduct all meetings.

The initial meeting(s) shall be held to determine whether the charge or grievance states probable cause. Probable cause is a reasonable ground of presumption that a charge is well founded. The committee shall decide whether or not to hear the case, but may refuse to hear the case only by the unanimous consent of its members. If the committee refuses to hear a case, the reasons for its actions must be transmitted in writing to the persons involved and to the Dean of Libraries/Acting Dean.

Should the committee decide that there is probable cause and therefore decide to hear the case, the following Code of Conduct should be followed in reaching a decision concerning the grievance:

1. In all cases, the burden of proof shall be on the grievant.
2. There shall be a fair hearing with full right of cross-examination by the parties in interest. A party in interest is the person or persons making the claim and any person who might be required to take action or against whom action might be taken in order to resolve the claim. The parties in interest shall have the right to summon witnesses and to produce documents relevant to the proceedings. If the individual wishes to summon a witness(es), any expenses incurred shall be borne personally. If any witness summoned by either party is a person employed by Tulane University Libraries, that person shall be allowed time to perform this function without loss of pay.
3. A written record of the hearing shall be provided to the Grievance Committee and, upon request, to each party in interest. The proceedings may be recorded for the purpose of providing a transcription. Such recordings and transcriptions may not be used outside of the committee.
4. The proceedings and assembled evidence relevant to individual grievances shall be kept in strict confidence.
5. In the event that a grievance alleges a violation related to Tulane's policy forbidding discrimination in its employment practices and educational programs/activities on the basis of race, color, sex, religion, national origin, age, disability, genetic information, sexual orientation, gender identity, gender expression, pregnancy, marital status, military status, veteran status, or any other status or classification protected by federal, state or local law, the Office of Institutional Equity shall be notified to assist in the investigation and, where appropriate, any subsequent action.
6. All parties in interest may be present during all meetings of the hearing by the committee, except the meeting(s) at which the committee considers its decision. Witnesses shall be present only for the duration of providing their testimony.
7. The meeting(s) during which the committee considers its decision is to be closed. The discussions are not to be recorded in any form.
8. At any point in the proceedings prior to the time at which the committee meets to consider its decision, the grievant may withdraw the grievance.
9. In reaching its decision, the committee shall not consider or review any document or other material to which the parties in interest are not afforded access with sufficient time for response. Any documents normally confidential and not ordinarily available to all members of the committee and the parties in interest shall be made available to such members and parties if the documents bear directly on the grievance at hand. However, in no case shall documents be made available which by revelation or content would violate the civil rights or privacy of any persons mentioned in the document without their consent.

10. Any reports to the Library Department by the Executive Committee, when acting as the Grievance Committee, shall include only the number of cases heard and the amount of time involved. No other identifying material shall be reported without the concurrence of the parties involved.
11. The decision of the committee shall be determined by majority vote, though there may be a minority report.
12. When the case is decided in favor of the grievant, the committee shall also decide on the appropriate redress, weighing both the stated desires of the grievant and previous awards in similar cases within Tulane University. (The Committee may choose to contact other University employees to obtain relevant information.) The award shall be made within twenty (20) working days after the final decision.
13. The decision of the committee shall be submitted in writing to the Dean of Libraries/Acting Dean. The written record shall include the decision and all pertinent facts, appropriate evidence, and documentation to support the committee's decision. The records shall be filed in the Library Administrative Office and shall be available only under the supervision of the Dean of Libraries/Acting Dean. The Dean of Libraries/Acting Dean shall notify the concerned parties and the appropriate head(s) or supervisor(s) of the decision alone within two (2) working days following the close of committee meetings.
14. Either party may appeal the decision rendered by the Grievance Committee. This appeal must be made in writing to the University President or the President's designated representative within five (5) working days of the decision.
15. If the President decides to review the case, the Dean of Libraries/Acting Dean shall be so notified, normally within five (5) working days of receipt of the appeal or receipt of information about the recommendation. If the President does not choose to review the case within this time period, the decision of the committee shall be final. If the President does review the case, the President's decision shall be final.

No reprisals of any kind shall be taken by the University or any employee thereof against any party in interest, any witnesses, any members of the Grievance Committee, or any other participant in the grievance procedure by reason of such participation.

Welcome

Role of Library Search Advisory Committee

The Librarian Search Advisory Committee (LSAC) supports the effective and equitable work of active search committees. LSAC accomplishes this by:

- Maintaining and updating the Procedures for the Recruitment of Librarians (this guide) and ensuring that the document follows Tulane University's recruitment policies and procedures. Making this document available to all Library Department members.
- The LSAC Chair contacts the search committee chair upon committee formation and invites one or more members of the active search committee to a meeting where the procedures will be reviewed and discussed.
- A member of the LSAC committee serves as a liaison to active search committees.

Additional functions of the Librarian Search Advisory Committee include:

- Maintaining a list of active search committees and the committee members.
- Meeting with each new hire to receive feedback on the libraries' recruitment practices and uses this information to improve the search process.
- Reviewing current recruiting trends in academic and research libraries and recommending to Library Department suggested changes to librarian search policy or procedure for consideration.

Please do not share applicant information or materials with people outside of the search process and institution. Once a search is closed and appropriate reporting data collected, please delete, shred, or otherwise prevent access to documents related to each Candidate.

Committee Composition

Active Search Committee (ASC) Composition

The Hiring Manager invites Active Search Committee (ASC) members to participate via a formal email to each committee member. Once all members have agreed to serve, the hiring manager directs the ASC to proceed.

ASC membership is composed of:

- position supervisor
- a support staff member who would typically work closely with this position
- up to 5 Library Department members
- Optional - a member of university faculty or staff from a relevant academic department or unit

Representation from multiple library divisions and levels of experience is desirable.

The role of Chair is selected by the hiring manager.

Duties of the ASC Chair

These are duties for which the Chair has sole responsibility or is charged with a deliverable action. This should serve as a checklist only.

1. Create a folder in Box to house search and candidate documents; share with search committee members and TUL's Sr HR Program Coordinator (Roblynn G. Sliwinski as of 8/19/2024).
2. The Chair or the Dean emails HTML-L sharing the formation of the position search committee and the committee's membership.
3. Call and lead search kick-off meeting:
 - a. Outline the search process
 - b. explain the duties of the committee
 - c. Develop and distribute working timeline
 - d. Agree upon preferred communication methods (email, Teams group chat, etc.), identify next steps, assign tasks as needed, agree upon next meeting date as needed

DEIA Statement for All Job Ads

The following DEIA statement should be incorporated into all librarian job ads:

Tulane University Libraries (TUL) is committed to integrating diversity, equity, inclusion, and accessibility (DEIA) into all aspects of our work and environment. We acknowledge that reaching these DEIA goals will strengthen our institution and allow for new directions in growth. We also acknowledge that we currently have barriers to embedding DEIA in our organization. Work is being done across TUL to investigate and address these barriers, create actionable objectives, and implement programming and structural change. You can learn more about some of those efforts on the TUL Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion Committee page and the Tulane Strategy for Tomorrow website. Tulane University Libraries is committed to building a diverse workplace that welcomes and values all people, and we encourage you to apply if you have transferable skills and experience.

This statement was developed by the Library Hiring and Recruitment Task Force (2021)

Selecting and Requesting Job Ad Placement

Selecting Job Ad Placement:

Selecting locations to place a job ad is the responsibility of the Search Committee.

Ad placement selection should be done with the following considerations:

- placement locations directly or closely related to the position;
- placement locations likely to recruit library-adjacent Candidates with highly transferable skills and experience;
- placement locations that serve Candidates with diverse identities and backgrounds.

These initial considerations should be further balanced against cost and available funding, the committee Chair may need to coordinate this aspect of decision making with the Admin Office.

RESOURCE: Job Ad Placement Locations - This is a list of advertising opportunities compiled by the Library Hiring and Recruitment Task Force (December 2021).

Requesting Job Ad Placement:

- The Chair should share a list of placement locations and costs (refer to the above resource for both) to the Sr HR Program Coordinator (Heather Brunner).

- All committee members may post the job ad to appropriate listservs
- All committee members should record all formal (e.g. paid and free job boards) and information (e.g. listservs) and compile in a single document for post-search reporting purposes.

Application Review

Evaluation Criteria Checklist & Initial Interview Selection

The Chair creates an evaluation checklist using required and preferred qualifications identified in the position advertisement as the main criteria. How each criteria is judged needs to be agreed upon by the full committee in advance. Two approaches have been used in recent history.

Approach 1 - yes, no, maybe.

Each committee has an evaluation chart for each Candidate and notes either yes, no, or maybe next to each criterion. The full committee must then reconvene to discuss and debate accordingly until they arrive at an agreement over whom to invite for a first interview.

Sample - Initial Review: yes no maybe sample chart

Approach 2 - rating (or scoring)

Committee members rate each criterion on an agreed upon rating scale (for example, 0=not met, 5=fully met). Each committee member arrives at a final score for each Candidate by averaging all criteria ratings. Each committee members' final scoring is then entered into a shared spreadsheet and averaged to create the final shared rating for each candidate. The committee must then reconvene to discuss anomalies in individual ratings (as needed), and decide which Candidates to invite for an initial interview based on the final ratings.

Sample = Initial Review: Individual Rating Chart ; Shared Rating Chart (samples pending permission from creator)

Review of Applications

TUL's Sr. HR Program Coordinator (Heather Brunner as of 6/12/2023) will regularly check Interfolio for new Candidates, will redact identifying information, and upload redacted Candidate applications to a folder in the ASC's shared folder. (If this is something the search committee decides to do.)

ASC members should check this folder regularly for new applications and review them in a timely manner.

The evaluation criteria checklist should be used by each member to assist with evaluation. If an application deadline was set, the Chair calls a committee meeting immediately after the deadline to review and discuss applicants. If no deadline was set, the Chair calls the meeting when a sufficient number of applications have been received and evaluated. Candidates are evaluated according to the Evaluation Criteria checklist and top-ranked candidates are selected for first round interviews.

Initial Rejection Letters

Unqualified candidates may be eliminated at this time. Reject only those candidates who do not meet the minimum requirements. The Chair notifies the TUL's Sr. HR Program Coordinator (Roblynn G. Sliwinski as of 8/19/2024) of unqualified candidates. TUL's Sr. HR Program Coordinator (Roblynn G. Sliwinski as of 8/19/2024) sends rejection letters to unqualified candidates, and then archives the candidates in Interfolio. Interfolio has templates or you can create your own.

- presentation topic
- Optional – advice on things to bring (e.g., umbrella, water bottle, etc.)
- Optional – information about room set-up (computer availability, etc.)

Second Interview Date Selection

For the Candidate's convenience, more than one date should be proposed and should include the time zone (CST). Select potential interview dates in coordination with the Dean or the Senior Executive Secretary as well as other key library personnel.

Eligibility to Work in the United States

It is essential to determine the Candidate's eligibility to work in the United States. The library must know if a Candidate is eligible to work in the U.S before an offer of employment can be made, as the library will need to work with the Office of International Students and Scholars (<http://www.oiss.tulane.edu/>) to file the necessary paperwork before the Candidate can begin work. This will affect the employment start date offered by the Dean. The question, "are you authorized to work and accept new employment in the United States?" may be asked either during the zoom interview or onsite interview. It should, however be asked of all Candidates for a position.

Second Interview Schedule

The interview schedule is prepared by the chair and the position supervisor in consultation with the Division Head (as needed) and approved by the ASC.

Meetings with the Dean should be scheduled as soon as possible, all other meetings should be scheduled no less than two weeks in advance.

Interviews are commonly a full day in duration, however some positions may require one and half to two days.

The Chair or a ASC delegate must send calendar invites, create Zoom links (as appropriate), reserve meeting spaces, coordinate pre-interview dinner and interview day lunch. Include regular breaks throughout the day.

Meetings and events may include:

- Dinner preceding interview day, either the ASC Chair or the position supervisor makes the reservation as decided by the ASC.
- Optional - Library and/or TUSC tour

- Search committee
- Position supervisor (one-on-one)
- Division head (one-on-one, as appropriate)
- Department or Division this position is a part of
- Chair of the Library Department (one-on-one, typically 15 minute introduction to Library Department, promotions procedures, etc)
- Optional - Administrative group
- Dean of Libraries
- Optional – Sr. HR Program Coordinator
 - o If a meeting is not set up, the Search Chair should provide the Sr. HR Program Coordinator's contact information for questions about benefits, time off, etc.
- Presentation to the Library (all library personnel are invited, see below for guidance)
- Lunch with 2-3 library personnel chosen by ASC [usually includes at least 1 ASC member; 1 librarian, and 1 library staff member this position would typically interact with]
 - o The lunch group may decide where to have lunch [note, if off campus, they are responsible for reservations, transportation, and returning the candidate on time for their next meeting]
 - o The Commons may be the best option due to time limitations.
 - o The most senior person at lunch may be asked to use their T&E Card to pay for all lunches.
 - ♣ They are responsible for paying for lunch
 - ♣ They must save the detailed/itemized receipt for reimbursement through Concur or give the receipt to Julia Fawcett, the accountant in the Library administrative office: jboudreau@tulane.edu
 - ♣ Ensure T&E reports are filed within 45 days or less of the completion of travel. T&E reports may include multiple candidate's expenses and employee travel in the same month. Although only one T&E report per month should be filed in Concur, if there are more than 20 transactions, multiple reports are required.
 - ♣ If they are unable to pay for the lunch and be reimbursed later, he/she must notify the ASC, who will then ask a different member of the lunch group to take on the responsibility.
 - o Optional - Campus tour
 - o Optional, as appropriate to the position - Associate Dean
 - o Optional, as appropriate to the position - Relevant Faculty

All interviews should be similar in format, scope, and personnel. Included in the schedule are rest breaks. The committee ensures that candidates have a guide between all meetings.

Presentation Topic; ASC Interview Questions

Each Candidate delivers a presentation on a topic determined by the ASC.

The presentation is usually 20-30 minutes long, but 45-60 minutes are usually allotted to allow for questions and answers. The Chair emails the presentation topic to Candidates at least two weeks in advance, giving them adequate and equal time to prepare.

The committee prepares a list of questions for its session with the Candidate. A few additional questions may be prepared for the general session, should attendees not have questions. Candidate should also receive a copy of the questions in advance at the same time as the presentation topic.

Logistics - Travel & Accommodations

EVEN IF CANDIDATE IS LOCAL, ASC Chair must start with the following steps:

- Submit the Guest Travel Request Form
- Request Candidate complete the Tulane University Guest Traveler Form and submit directly to the Senior Executive Secretary by email to rborges@tulane.edu so hotel and airfare reservations can be determined. The form should remain confidential and not returned to anyone on the hiring committee.

Once dates are confirmed, ASC Chair informs Candidate about (cc Senior Executive Secretary):

- Date of interview
- Hotel will be provided for one or two nights, or three for international travelers
- Air and ground transportation expenses, as well as meals, will be reimbursed
- The Candidate must submit all receipts for reimbursement. Senior Executive Secretary will work directly with the Candidate for reimbursement.
- Airfare will be coordinated through World Travel and Senior Executive Secretary will forward all travel to interview liaison.
- Provide the Candidate with a W-9 form
- Statement of presentation topic and information about the presentation, including length of time and available presentation equipment.
- Onsite interview schedule and
- ASC interview questions
- Inquire about dietary needs (if scheduling meals off-campus)
- Library Department
Handbook: http://library.tulane.edu/sites/library.tulane.edu/files/documents/Library_Department_Handbook_20180820.pdf
- Benefit Guide: <https://hr.tulane.edu/benefits/benefits-guide>
- Tulane University Faculty Handbook: <https://provost.tulane.edu/academic-affairs/policies>.
Note that, in general, librarians are entitled to faculty benefits, which are outlined in section IV.B. of the Faculty Handbook, but that not all sections of the Handbook apply to librarians.
- Additional departmental information may be sent as needed.

Reference Checks

Questions for Candidate's References

The position supervisor, in consultation with the ASC, creates a list of questions to ask references. For consistency, all references should be asked the same open ended questions, although additional questions may be added according to the relationship between the Candidate and the reference (e.g., direct supervisor, co-worker, etc.).

Reference Checks

Reference checks may be conducted before or after the second interview. References may provide feedback via phone or email or may send letters of recommendation at the request of the ASC. If reference checks are conducted via phone, it is recommended that two or more search committee members participate in the phone call.

The reference should be assured that the exchange is confidential. If conducting a phone interview, contact the reference to schedule an interview and provide the job ad in advance. If the reference check is conducted in writing, a deadline for response should be communicated. The Chair in consultations with the ASC may request that a reference to a current or recent position supervisor be provided by the Candidate.

Selection & Job Offer Selection

The Chair will receive the Candidate Evaluation form link from TUL's Senior HR Program Coordinator (Roblynn G. Sliwinski as of 8/19/2024). The Chair requests feedback through a Candidate Evaluation Form sent to library personnel and others involved in the search process. Depending on the schedule of additional candidates, the committee may wish to meet following each Candidate's visit to share observations from the interview.

Candidate Selection

On completion of all onsite interviews, the committee convenes as soon as possible to discuss the candidate(s). The recommendations regarding the candidates come from evaluations and other observations from the entire process.

If no candidates are deemed acceptable by the ASC, the Chair notifies the Dean to determine if letters of rejection should be sent. The search may then return to an earlier step in the process. Options include:

- Re-examine the candidate pool for other suitable candidates ;
- Re-write the advertisement and/or re-advertise in the same or different publications;
- Re-write the job description and resubmit to the Dean;
- Suspend the search and dissolve the search committee.

Letter of Recommendation & OIE Form Submission

In consultation with the ASC, the chair writes a letter of recommendation which is submitted to the Dean. TUL's Senior HR Program Coordinator should be copied on this correspondence. The committee may wish to recommend more than one candidate.

The following is a non-prescriptive example adapted from previous search recommendations:

Dear [DeanName],

The Active Search Committee for [PositionName] recommends [CandidateName] on the following considerations:

- [CandidateQuality/Qualification 1]
- [CandidateQuality/Qualification 2]
- [CandidateQuality/Qualification3]

- [etc.]

Additionally, we received the following positive feedback from library personnel following the full-day interview:

- "[PositiveQuote1]"
- "[PositiveQuote2]"
- "[PositiveQuote3]"

Optional: If valid concerns were raised, identify them here and briefly explain why you recommend anyway. Example: Although this candidate does not have the preferred collection development experience we were originally seeking, we believe this candidate will quickly learn knowledge and skills necessary to fully meet this need.

Please contact the committee if you have any questions or require additional information.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

[Name]

Job Offer

The Dean accepts or rejects the ASC recommendation. An offer of employment pending Background Check may be made by the Dean, position supervisor, or committee Chair.

Closing the Search

Official Letter of Employment

The candidate is sent a written offer and is asked for a formal written acceptance via email. At this time, the Senior HR Program Coordinator (Roblynn G. Sliwinski as of 8/19/2024) submits the offer to the Provost's Office for approval. When the signed offer letter and approval form from the Provost's Office have been received and the background check has cleared, the Dean, search committee Chair or position supervisor announces the successful Candidate and estimated start date to all library staff.

Rejection Letters

TUL's Senior HR Program Coordinator (Roblynn G. Sliwinski as of 8/19/2024) sends form rejection letters to Candidates who were not interviewed via Interfolio.

If a Candidate was selected for a full interview but was not selected for the position, the search committee Chair or Dean should personally contact the Candidates(s) via email and thank them for their interest.

Close Out Advertising

The Chair informs advertisers with open ads that the search is closed so that they can remove the position announcement from their sites.

Records Retention

The Administrative office retains a copy of all search materials and correspondence for a minimum of three years.

1. Information on recruitment efforts, including advertisements, faculty position announcements, and records of contacts (direct, phone, email, and letter).
2. A copy of the position description/ position announcement.
3. All applications received and considered for the position.
4. A listing of qualified applicants considered by the hiring department/ASC.
5. A listing of applicants eliminated from consideration who were determined not to be qualified; a stated reason for elimination of an applicant is required.
6. Checklists or ranking instruments used and any minutes relating to Committee deliberations and the rationale for applicant recommendations.
7. A list of candidates who were selected for an interview and those who were recommended to the hiring official.
8. Copy of letter to the Dean with committee's recommendation, and documentation pertaining to related meetings or discussions.
